RETURNS FROM CONVENTION

W. W. Boone, manager of the Tonopah Daily Bonanza, returned this morning from the Chicago convention after making several stops en route. He reports that there cannot be any question about the sense of the convention or the sentiments of the country in discussing the merits of Harding and Coolidge.

"Not a weak spot has been found in the life of either man and the more their careers are studied the stronger they appeal to the electors is the way I found it since leaving Chicago," Mr. Boone said. "That man Coolidge is a 'war' as he has the strength to carry not alone his own state but to capture the vote of every man who is desirous of seeing a safe and sane administration at Washington."

"If anybody wants to hear the sentiments of the western men regarding Chicago as a summer resort they should take my advice and stay away. Death Valley is an ice box in comparison. The best description of the weather was given by Judge Danforth formerly of Reno, a native of Chicago and now a leading attorney at San Francisco. 'If I held a bunch of dinner invitations from Chicago and one from Hell, I would go to Hell before I would think of trusting myself to Chicago in the good old summer time' was the way he put it."

"We were all proud of Miss Doll Boyd, of the Nevada delegation who seconded the nomination of Coolidge and held the attention of the big convention hall at the moment when everybody was struggling to his feet to be the first out to catch his train for home. Miss Boyd is some bird and Nevada is proud of her for making a speech that will go down in the halls of time as one of the events of a record breaking session."

OMAR MARIS IN A PRECARIOUS CONDITION

(By Associated Press.) CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 23.—Rumors that the railroad unions will call a strike this week affecting all unions were denied today by the chief executives of the big four.

Omar Maris lies in an extremely precarious condition at the Mine Operators hospital where he was received last evening at 5:29 o'clock from his mine on Silver Creek, near Belmont where he was gassed while ascending a shaft. Mr. Maris who is close to 62 years of age was about 50 feet from the bottom when overcome. The shaft is an incline and death would have been instant. As it happened the unfortunate pioneer rolled to the bottom sustaining severe bruises and contusions by impact on the rugged sides of the hole. Over an hour elapsed before relief could be had from Belmont and when Mr. Maris arrived at the hospital in Tonopah it was found that his skull was badly fractured. The injury is serious that it was deemed best not to attempt to take an x-ray but it was seen that the laceration was terrible. This afternoon a slight improvement was noted in the patient's condition and Dr. Church said there was room for hoping that Mr. Maris might recover. Another examination will be made this evening and, if the patient is able to stand it an x-ray will be taken.

Until this is done it is impossible to speak positively of the extent of the injury.

Jewelry Values Show; 20 Foot Vein Samples $62 By the Carload

The Tonopah Extension has obtained an entirely new orebody which dwarfs into insignificance previous best showings of the Tonopah district. The find was made about two weeks ago from the Victor shaft on the 1700 foot level but nothing has been said about it for the reason that the management considered the find of more interest to its stockholders than to traders in San Francisco who have been making use of every bullish report to hammer stocks. No official statement has been issued but it is generally known that a large sector of the new orebody is of black metal with the values running better than $1000 a ton. The best block of the character of the strike is found in the returns which give samples from a twenty foot ledge at 62 a ton. From the latter report the value of the orebody may be anticipated. The new ledge is said to be correlated with the formation of some of the other mines and it would not be surprising if there were not early reports of other properties picking up the same ledge which would start a sensational campaign of development in the northwestern section of the Tonopah district.
